INTERFAITH MOVEMENT TO END THE PANDEMIC

An Interfaith effort for vaccine equity around the world.

UNICEF has been entrusted by the global vaccine alliance (GAVI) with ensuring that up to 4.1 billion COVID-19 doses are distributed equitably in 2022 as part of COVAX, the largest and fastest immunization campaign in history. But it will take more than a vaccine to end the pandemic.

UNICEF has a long history of partnering with religious communities of all faiths on issues affecting children around the world. Faith-based partners play a significant role globally and nationally in making a difference in the lives of the world's most vulnerable children.

This interfaith movement to End the Pandemic is an effort to rally support for vaccine equity around the world. Faith communities and leaders across the United States are coming together to end the global pandemic and to come to the aid of our most vulnerable communities. The campaign has three aims: Fundraise, promote awareness of the crisis, and engage in advocacy efforts.

All donations raised will go towards UNICEF getting the vaccine into the arms of people. It will also support UNICEF's efforts in the development of rapid diagnostics and treatments and help countries strengthen their health systems. Will you join us in this fight against COVID-19 and in the dismantling of health inequity around the world?

Play your part and help UNICEF deliver 4.1 billion vaccines, as well as millions of treatments around the world this year. Because we'll only ever be safe, if we're all safe.
