I am often with moms who either choose to or have no choice but to give birth at home. Even if there is a medical facility, there may be no doctors, no ambulance, no road. When my youngest child was born, there were complications, and I was in surgery for four hours. We were saved only because I was lucky enough to live in a country where excellent medical care was readily available.

These experiences propel me to constantly ask what more can I do?

Buying UNICEF cards and gifts for family and friends can help ensure a new mother has not only the proper medical resources to give birth but also the vaccinations and nutrition her precious newborn so desperately needs. Take a moment to shop this catalog, and help moms and their children around the world.
