UNICEF has been entrusted by the global vaccine alliance (GAVI) with ensuring that up to 2 billion COVID-19 doses are distributed equitably in 2021 as part of COVAX, the largest and fastest immunization campaign in history. But it will take more than a vaccine to end the pandemic.

UNICEF is also aiding the development of rapid diagnostics and treatments and helping countries strengthen their health systems.

This is an interfaith effort to rally support for vaccine equity around the world. Faith communities and leaders across the United States are coming together to end the global pandemic and to come to the aid of our most vulnerable communities. The campaign has three aims: Fundraise, promote awareness of the crisis, and engage in advocacy efforts.

All donations raised will go towards UNICEF getting the vaccine into the arms of people.

Will you join us in this fight against COVID-19 and in the dismantling of health inequity around the world?

Play your part and help UNICEF deliver 2 billion vaccines, as well as millions of treatments around the world this year. Because we'll only ever be safe, if we're all safe. ●

Did you know that...

$36 could cover all the costs associated with the safe delivery of two doses of vaccine to 10 people.

About UNICEF

For over 75 years, UNICEF has built an unprecedented global-health support system. Among its many programs, UNICEF helps immunize more than 45% of the world's children every year –in some of the most remote places on Earth. UNICEF was chosen to lead the global COVID-vaccine procurement and delivery because UNICEF is the only organization with the infrastructure, experience and expertise already in place to make it happen quickly.
